22 أيلول/سبتمبر 2015- عقد "المركز الماقليمي لمنظمة الصحة العالمية لشرق المتوسط لأنشطة الصحة البيئية" اجتماعًا للخبراء استمر ثلاثة أيام في مجال ندرة المياه والصحة في مدينة عمان، المأردن، يومي 15 و 16 أيلول/سبتمبر 2015. واستهدف الماجتماع تقديم المدعم المتقني للبلدان المهتمة بتكرار عملية استكشاف المأدلة لدعم إعداد السياسات الوطنية في مجال الماحتياجات المائية المحلية للصحة، وهي مبادرة اختُبررَت ارتياديًا في المأردن عامي 2013-2012. [

وأهداف الماجتماع هي:

- تدقيق وتحديث البر وتوكول والمنهجية المستخدمين في استكشاف الأدلة لدعم إعداد السياسات الوطنية حول الاحتياجات المائية المحلية للصحة
  - تدريب الفرق على المنهجية
  - تعريف الفرق بالتجربة الأردنية في تطبيق بروتوكول ومنهجية تقييم أثر ندرة المياه على الصحة
    - تقديم الماختصاصات من أجل إعدال مقترح تقنى ومالى لتنفيذه على الصعيد الوطنى.

وحضر الماجتماع خبراء من المعهد الوطني الفلسطيني للصحة العامة، والمكتب المركزي الفلسطيني للإحصاء، وجاممعة طهران للعلوم الطبية.

المواقع ذات الصلة

المياه و الإصحاح و الصحة

صحيفة الحقائق حول مياه الشرب

The participants from Palestine and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the Scarcity and Health Expert Meeting developing technical and financial proposal for implementation in their countries experience nationally and were familiarized with

The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successfully convened a three day expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop intended to provide technical support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health that was piloted in Jordan in 2012-13.

The objectives of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) [] train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experience in the application of the [] protocol and methodology assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the technical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran University of Medical Sciences.
The participants from Palestine and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experience nationally and were familiarized with developing technical and financial proposal for implementation in their countries. Water Scarcity and Health Expert Meeting
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successfully convened a three day expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop intended to provide technical support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health that was piloted in Jordan in 2012-13.

The objectives of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of nation requirements for health.; 2) [] train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experience in the application of the [] assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the technical and financial proposal	protocol and methodology for
The meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian Central Bureau of Statistics, and To	eheran University of Medical Sciences.
The participants from Palestine and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity a experience nationally and were familiarized with developing technical and financial proposal for imple
W. A. S. C. C.
water Scarcity	y and Health Expert Meeting
Water Scarcity  The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successful.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successful expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is	fully convened a three day
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements.	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical sirements for health that was
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successive expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical tirements for health that was illoted in Jordan in 2012-13.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of punctional policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)   Train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experiments for health.	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical tirements for health that was iloted in Jordan in 2012-13.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of punctional policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)   Train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experiments for health.; 2   Train the teams on the methodology; 3 familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experiments for health.; 2   Train the teams on the methodology; 3 familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experiments for health.; 3   Train the teams on the methodology; 4 familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experiments for health and; 4 may be a support of the teams of	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical tirements for health that was iloted in Jordan in 2012-13.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of punctional policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) Train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian entire I protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the terms.	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical nirements for health that was iloted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of punctional policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian extended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical airements for health that was siloted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of punctional policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian ethe protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the terms of the meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran University of the participants from Palestine and the participants from Palestine and Teheran University of the participants from Palestine and Teheran Univer	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical nirements for health that was illoted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of publicies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) [In train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian ethe protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the team meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  The participants from Palestine  Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran Univariant Imagined in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the exfamiliarized with developing technical and financial proposal for imple	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical nirements for health that was illoted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of publicies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) [In train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian ethe protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the team meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  The participants from Palestine  Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran Univariant Imagined in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the exfamiliarized with developing technical and financial proposal for imple	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical airements for health that was illoted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation. Versity of Medical Sciences. Experience nationally and were ementation in their countries.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)  train the teams on the methodology for generating evidence to support development of particular policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)  train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian extended protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the teams attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  The participants from Palestine Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran University and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experts gain and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating the experts gain and Ira	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical airements for health that was idoted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation. Experience nationally and were ementation in their countries.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successive expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)  train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian extended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  The participants from Palestine  Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran Units and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the exfamiliarized with developing technical and financial proposal for imple Water Scarcity.  Water Scarcity  The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successive properties and the proposal for implementation.	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical airements for health that was alloted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation. Wersity of Medical Sciences. Experience nationally and were ementation in their countries.
The World Health Organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) success expert meeting on "Water Scarcity and Health" that took place in Amman, Jordan, during the period from 15-16 September 2015. This workshop is support to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)    The objectives of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of pational policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2)    Train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian ethe protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the teams attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian  The participants from Palestine  Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran Univariation and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the exfamiliarized with developing technical and financial proposal for impless that the protocol with the protocol and financial proposal for impless that the protocol and methodology and protocol for Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successive the protocol and methodology and Health organization Eastern Mediterranean Regional Office/ Regional Centre for Environmental Health Action (WHO/CEHA) successive the protocol and methodology and Health organization to countries interested in replicating the process of generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements.	fully convened a three day intended to provide technical airements for health that was alloted in Jordan in 2012-13. Experience in the application of chnical and financial proposal for national implementation. Wersity of Medical Sciences. Experience nationally and were ementation in their countries.

The objectives of the meeting were to 1) scrutinize and update the protocol and methodology for generating evidence to support development of national policies on domestic water requirements for health.; 2) 🛘 train the teams on the methodology; 2) familiarize the teams with the Jordanian experience in the application of the 🗎 protocol and methodology for assessing the impact of water scarcity on health and; and 3) introduce the terms of reference for developing the technical and financial proposal for national implementation.
The meeting was attended by experts from The Palestinian National Institute of Public Health, the Palestinian Central Bureau of Statistics, and Teheran University of Medical Sciences.
The participants from Palestine and Iran gained in-depth knowledge on the methodology and protocol for generating evidence on water scarcity and health for replicating the experience nationally and were familiarized with developing technical and financial proposal for implementation in their countries.
Sunday 27th of April 2025 12:24:12 PM