

Use of highly fortified, ready-to-use therapeutic foods (RUTFs) is an innovative approach for community-based management of severe acute malnutrition, for children over the age of six months with a good appetite and no medical complications, even in settings where hygiene conditions are sub-optimal. See the announcement and the Joint WHO/WFP/United Nations Standing Committee on Nutrition/UNICEF Statement.

Wednesday 15th of May 2024 11:50:39 AM