

East Jerusalem, 1 February 2022 - WHO in oPt handed over two refrigerated vehicles worth US$ 93 000 to the Palestinian Ministry of Health as part of its ongoing support to the health system and the national response to COVID-19. □

The vehicles, funded by the Federal Republic of Germany, will bolster efforts to strengthen the vaccine cold chain to ensure that COVID-19 and other vaccines can be transported safely and efficiently from the warehouse to health facilities across the Gaza Strip and West Bank.

“I thank the Federal Republic of Germany and the World Health Organization for supporting the Palestinian health system. This support will help the Ministry of Health in combating COVID-19 and in continuing the vaccination campaign with increased efficiency across Palestine”, Dr Mai Al-Keilalh, Palestinian Minister of Health. □

Since March 2020, WHO in oPt has provided essential COVID-19 response equipment and supplies worth over US$ 18.5 million to the Ministry across oPt. The COVID-19 response is helping to improve the resilience and preparedness of the overall health system too. □

“Together with a continuing focus on other areas of the COVID-19 response such as testing, surveillance, case management, risk communication, and vaccination, in collaboration with the Ministry, we are also investing in the vaccine cold chain. This is to not only boost COVID-19 vaccination efforts but also to improve the long-term sustainability of the larger immunization system of oPt”, said Dr Richard Peeperkorn, WHO Representative in oPt.

Earlier this week, WHO in oPt also provided two glovebox machines worth approximately US$ 300 000, funded by the Norwegian Institute of Public Health, to the Ministry to protect health workers from contamination and exposure while handling hazardous and potentially contagious biochemical materials. □
