

The National Certification Committee of Sudan submitted its basic national documentation for certification in 2003 with data up to the end of 2002. It was accepted by the Eastern Mediterranean Regional Certification Commission.

An annual update for 2003 was received and accepted, but updates stopped due to the outbreaks.

After the 2004 outbreak revised basic national documentation was accepted in 2006. After the second outbreak, that started in 2008, revised basic national documentation, including Sudan and South Sudan was accepted in 2010.

Due to the political changes in Sudan and the official separation between the north and the south, separate annual update reports for 2010, 2011 and 2012 were submitted, from the north and from the south, and they were all accepted.
