WHO Eastern Mediterranean Region
The Region is home to 37 countries and over 3.5 billion people. It is the largest region in the world in terms of population and area. The Region is diverse in terms of culture, religion, and political systems. It is also home to many of the world's poorest and most vulnerable populations. The Region has a long history of cooperation and partnership with the WHO, and we are proud to continue our work together to improve the health and well-being of the people of the Region.
