Figure 3. The social and structural determinants of sexual and reproductive health and rights in migrants and refugees. (The box lists the six social and structural determinant themes identified in this review. The four levels of the rainbow (social and community; living and working conditions; structural determinants; prevailing norms and narratives) represent the different levels at which these determinants operate. The layers of the rainbow are populated with the main results of this review. The roman numerals indicate the related determinant theme.)