

Table 1 Different sectors involved in vector control in 10 countries of the Eastern Mediterranean Region

Sector involved
Afghanistan	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Environment; municipalities; Environmental Protection Agency; nongovernmental organizations; United Nations agencies
Djibouti	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Water and Irrigation, Environment and Djibouti municipality
Egypt	Ministries of Health and Population, Agriculture, Irrigation, Environment; municipalities; academic and research institutions
Islamic Republic of Iran	Ministries of Health and Medical Education, Agriculture, Water and Irrigation; Environmental Protection Agency; academic and research institutions
Jordan	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Environment, Water and Irrigation; Jordan Valley and Greater Amman municipalities; Ministry of Defence
Morocco	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Interior and Environment; research and academic institutions
Oman	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Environment and Climatic Affairs; regional municipalities and water resources; Ministry of Commerce and Industry
Sudan	Federal Ministry of Health (National Malaria Control Programme, Occupational Health Department and State Ministries of Health); Ministries of Agriculture, Environment and Tourism, Irrigation and Water Management; nongovernmental organizations; community-based organizations (Sudanese Women Union) and the private sector, e.g. insecticidal treated nets/long-lasting insecticidal nets; academic and research institutions
Syrian Arab Republic	Ministries of Health, Agriculture, Environment, Water and Irrigation; municipalities; academic institutions
Yemen	Ministry of Health and Population, Environment, Agriculture; municipalities, academic institutions