Hospitals operated by the Ministry of Health in the Gaza Strip are functioning but are reporting difficulties due to severely depleted medical supplies. 46 patients were transferred via Erez checkpoint since November 17 (including two sets of twins) and 34 patients via Rafah to Egypt.

- Two floors of the 40-bed Jordanian field hospital, which has operated in Gaza city since 2009, were severely damaged in an airstrike on November 19 including the in-patient department nursing station in the center of the hospital. Patients had been evacuated only 10 minutes earlier. The hospital is partially functioning again with the reopening of a second ward.
- Beit Hanoun hospital, a 36-bed MoH facility in the north of Gaza, suffered light damage on November 21.

44 of 54 Ministry of Health primary health care clinics are functioning, although residents are venturing onto the streets only for most urgent needs; ten clinics located in dangerous areas, including four clinics that suffered collateral damage, were closed. 19 of 21 UNRWA primary health care clinics are functioning.

WHO has appealed to the international community for support in providing essential medical supplies by coordinating donations according to the specific needs of the Ministry of Health (see press release below).
