

{besps}afghanistan/gallery/female_vaccinators|width=640|height=427|inout=0|align=1|auto=0{/besps}

{besps_c}0|1.jpg|

Zainab (left) meets with one of her vaccinator teams. This team has vaccinated 49 children today, and it is only 9.30 the morning.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|2.jpg|

5-year-old Waris is vaccinated in Loya Wala, Kandahar.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|3.jpg|

After receiving his polio vaccination, Waris gets a balloon. Loya Wala, Kandahar.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|4.jpg|

A girl looks on as her finger is marked after vaccination

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|5.jpg|

Zainab (right) with one of her teams getting ready for a house visit.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|6.jpg|

The team marks the number of vaccinated children on a tally sheet and register book after each visit. At the end of the day, the team calculates how many children were reached.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|7.jpg|

The house wall also gets a mark after vaccinator team has visited.

{/besps_c} {besps_c}0|8.jpg|

At the end of the day, the teams go through their day and share any problems encountered in a meeting.

{/besps_c} Tuesday 18th of June 2019 11:47:00 AM