

WHO, in collaboration with governments affected by the Syrian crisis, has established an early warning alert and response network through their respective ministries of health. It is a network to strengthen the national surveillance system to detect outbreak threats in the Syria emergency situation. The EWARN is now well implemented in Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

Bulletins

[Regional early warning and response bulletin, March 2015, \[pdf 561kb\]](#)

[Regional early warning and response bulletin, February 2015, \[pdf 538kb\]](#)

Saturday 20th of April 2024 03:58:17 PM