

EPA/P Campos8 February 2016 – A new data sharing and reporting protocol has been implemented at the Bulletin of the World Health Organization.

The protocol was established specifically to address the current Zika virus epidemic, including the possible link to microcephaly and neurological disorders, but may be applicable to a broader range of public health emergencies.

Read more about the new data sharing and reporting protocol

Tuesday 23rd of April 2024 06:38:59 PM