

Partnership remains key in creating a healthier Sudan. Over the years, WHO has been working with donors and partners to reduce mortality, morbidity and disability, and to improve health, especially of vulnerable populations.

This goal is achieved through building national capacities, strengthening health systems, public health interventions and the provision of humanitarian assistance during emergencies.

{gallery}sudan/donor{/gallery}

Sudan programme activities are funded through both WHO's regular budget and voluntary contributions from the following donors.

Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation

Carter Center

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

European Union and ECHO

GAVI Alliance

Global Environment Facility

The Global Fund to fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria

Global Health Workforce Alliance

Government of Finland

Government of Germany

Government of Netherlands

Government of Norway

Government of Saudi Arabia

Government of Spain

International Health Partnership

Italian Development Cooperation

Kuwait Fund

Measles Initiative Partnership

Multi-Donor Trust Funds

Rotary International

UK's Department for International Development

United Nation's Central Emergency Response Fund

United States Agency for International Development \(USAID\)

Saturday 17th of May 2025 09:32:51 PM