

Ban Ki-moon, UN Secretary-General The latest UN Secretary-General road safety report was released on 30 September 2011. The report was developed with the support of WHO and in consultation with the UN regional commissions and other UN road safety collaboration partners. It provides a review of the implementation of the UN General Assembly resolutions on road safety issued between October 2009 and August 2011 and recommends a number of next steps along the collective journey to global road safety.
