

More than 50 health partners gathered in Khartoum to review its 2012 performance 9 February 2013 - Some 50 health partners in Sudan gathered on 6 and 7 February at Corinthia Hotel in Khartoum to share experiences in the implementation of health cluster approach, as well as identify weaknesses in operational framework at the national and state level.

The two-day review meeting was geared towards strengthening networks and partnerships among national and international organizations working in health, along with Sudan's Federal Ministry of Health.

Issues affecting health service delivery such as coordination and information, needs assessment, strategy development and planning, capacity building, monitoring and reporting, as well as resource mobilization were discussed and reviewed, while recommendations were drafted to improve operations of the health cluster at both country and state levels.

Dr. Abdulkhaleq Al-Mutairi, WHO Representative in Sudan, moderated the annual review meeting on 6 and 7 February 2013 in Khartoum.
