The third edition of Guidelines for medicine donations has been developed by the World Health Organization (WHO), in cooperation with major international agencies active in humanitarian relief and development assistance. The guidelines are intended to improve the quality of medicine donations in international development assistance and emergency aid. Good medicine donation practice is of interest to both donors and recipients.

Guidelines for medicine donations [pdf 1.77Mb]

Saturday 13th of July 2024 01:56:46 AM