Obituary

Dr Ahmed Abdulatif Bahnassy
1949-2022

The Eastern Mediterranean Health Journal family wishes to sympathize with the family of Dr Ahmed Abdulatif Bahnassy, Professor at the Department of Community Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, King Fahad Medical City, Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, who passed away on 10 January 2022. Dr Bahnassy received his PhD from Tulane University, USA (where he was elected as Delta Omega Fellow); served at different academic institutions, including King Abdul-Aziz University, King Faisal University and King Fahad Medical City. Dr Bahnassy supported the EMHJ as statistical editor since 2015, making valuable contributions towards maintaining the integrity of papers published in the journal. As a biostatistician and epidemiologist, Dr Bahnassy made significant contributions to science publishing globally / regionally, having published over 100 papers in different peer-reviewed journals. He was a member of several scientific organizations, including the American Statistical Association, the Saudi Society of Family and Community Medicine and the Egyptian Public Health Association; and a senior peer reviewer for several journals and research centres. His departure will be a great loss to the scientific and journal publishing communities in the EMR and beyond.
